DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 10/23/2007 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 1) The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

- 2) Claims 28, 31, and 33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bull (4696320) in view of "ALTERING WOUND SPRINGS" 1961.

Bull provides a relief valve device where the spring force is used. Please note that when using or designing the valve in various applications, it is desirable to have a valve with a different spring rate for varying applications.

The article teaches a method of measuring a spring rate and then machining an outer diameter until the spring rate is within specific tolerances (see K ratios, also last paragraph) to ensure proper performance in particular applications. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have modified provided the spring of Bull according to the procedures taught by the article merely to provide a spring which will operate to the designed pressure, within proper pressure tolerances and further to ensure reliability.

Response to Arguments

3) Applicant's arguments filed 10/23/2007 have been fully considered but they are moot in view of the new grounds of rejection.
